Introduction and Background

National History Day (NHD) is a federally approved national educational program for students in grades six through twelve. The Kansas History Day Program was started in 1982 by the Kansas State Historical Society, Dwight D. Eisenhower Presidential Library, Fort Hays State University, Washburn University, and Wichita State University among others. Over the years, the following are some of the institutions that have supported the program by hosting district competitions: Johnson County Community College, Garden City Public Schools, Reno County Historical Society, Franklin County Historical Society, and Fort Scott Community College.

In June 2009, the Kansas History Day Foundation (KHDF) was formed to take over sponsorship of the Kansas program when the Kansas Historical Society was unable to continue as the sponsor. The top priorities of KHDF were to work with the District Coordinators to maintain the district contests; create a website and email listserv to distribute information to teachers, students, parents, and supporters; and to hold a state contest.

District partnerships were continued with Fort Hays State University, Fort Scott Community College, and Washburn University. New partnerships were formed with Johnson County Community College for District 1 and Friends University and the Wichita-Sedgwick County Historical Society for District 6. Without these partnerships, volunteers, and overwhelming support from the National History Day office, KHDF would not have been able to continue the Kansas History Program for the 2009-2010 school year.

National History Day

History Day is a yearlong educational process. Students select an historical topic that relates to a broad theme, and then learn how to research their topic using primary and secondary sources. Working individually or in groups of two to five students, students then analyze and interpret their findings by developing an historical paper, exhibit, dramatic performance, or documentary. Students present their projects to audiences at school history fairs and district competitions. Beginning this year, the top three junior and senior division entries in each category from each district contest qualify to compete at the Kansas History Day Contest. The top two entries at the state level may go on to enter the National History Day Contest, held every June at the University of Maryland. The theme for 2010 was "Innovation in History: Impact and Change."

Kansas History Day Foundation

The Kansas History Day Foundation, a non-profit volunteer organization, was formed in June 2009 by Norman Conard, Letha Johnson, Travis Lamb, and Susan Sittenauer in an effort to keep the NHD program going in Kansas. Tracie Lamb was joined the group in July 2009 to share State Coordinator duties with Letha Johnson. KHDF registered as a non-profit organization with the Kansas Office of the Secretary of State and as a 501 c 3 with the Internal Revenue Service.

Our mission is the promotion of interest among elementary and secondary school students in history and historical research by providing the students an opportunity to compete and display publicly the results of their historical research and by rewarding them for their efforts and interests. Kansas students have a long history of success in History Day at all levels, including the national level. KHDF's aim is make sure that other Kansas students have the opportunity to continue this successful and winning tradition. The members of the 2009-2010 KHDF Board of Directors were:

Letha E. Johnson, Executive Director and State Co-coordinator
Norman Conard, President
Tracie Lamb, Secretary/Treasurer and State Co-coordinator

Susan Sittenauer, Curriculum Development
Travis Lamb, Curriculum Development and Webmaster

Kansas History Day Program 2009-2010

To promote the program an email listserv and Kansas History Day website were created. Since KHDF took over the Kansas Historical Society's contract for the online registration system through NHD, the website was furnished at no cost to KHDF. Given the limited funding available to KHDF, the listserv and website were used to promote the annual theme and the Kansas Topics List and Bibliography.

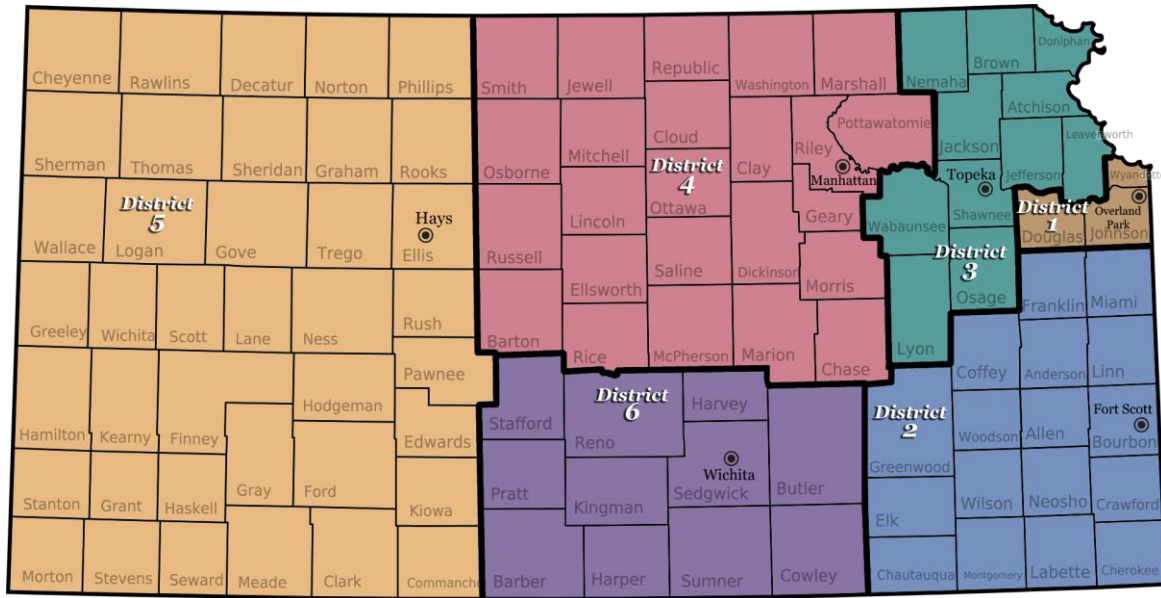

Travis Lamb and Susan Sittenauer conducted a History Day session at the annual conference of the Kansas Association for Gifted Talented and Creative in Lawrence. Tracie Lamb and Letha Johnson served as District Coordinators for Districts 1 and 4. Thanks to the help of Terry Healy (District 4) and Jim Lieker and Vince Clark (District 1), locations for the contests were secured.

KHDF was able to keep the Kansas History Day Program going thanks to the support of a dedicated group of people who generously volunteered their time, efforts, and money throughout the year. Volunteers included Megan Felt, Kirsten Goodman, Terry Healy, Bobby Athon, Sjobar Hammer, and Jim Lieker.

Appendix A shows the budget the board worked within for the year. A complete list of sponsors and volunteers is in Appendix B.

Kansas History Day District Programs

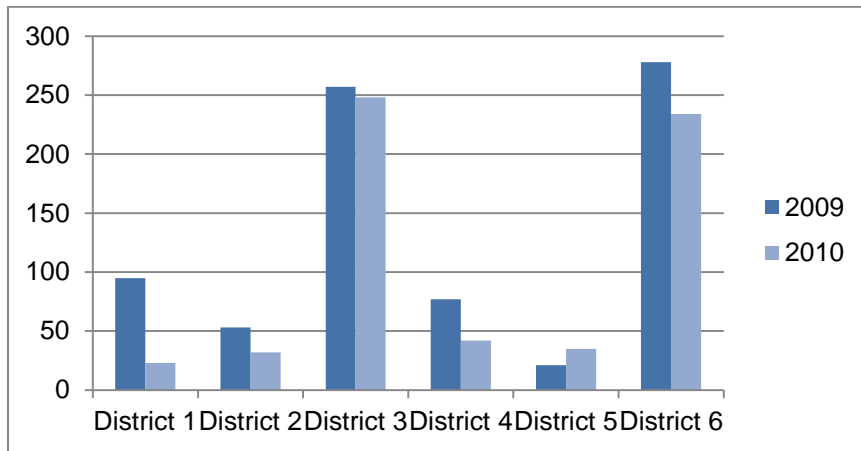

Kansas is divided into six history Day districts. Educational and historical institutions sponsor the program at the district level for the counties in their district (see map below). Thanks to the dedicated work of the District Coordinators and their host institutions, this program provided competitive history experiences for students in every region of the state.

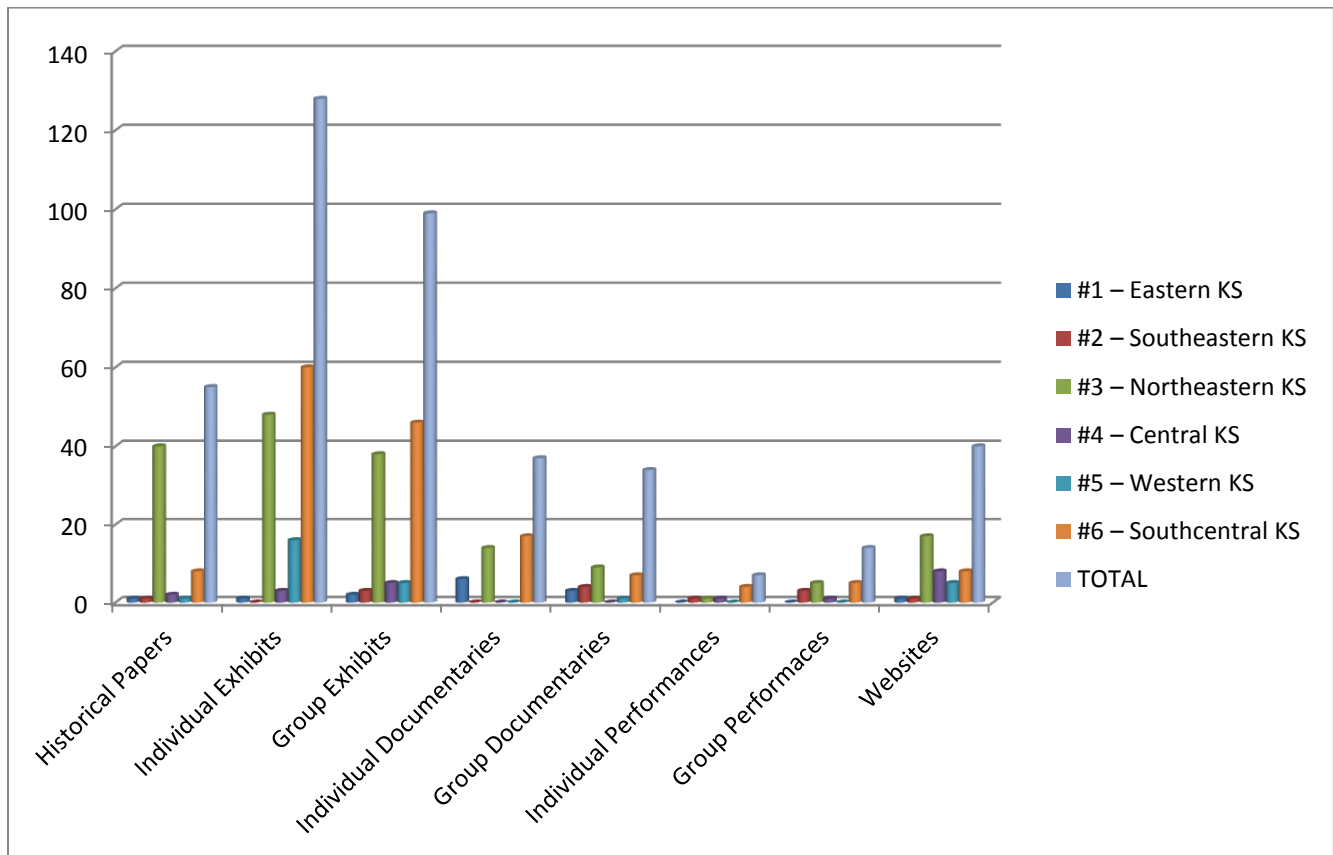

The District Coordinators and host institutions/contest locations for 2010 were:

- District 1: Letha Johnson and Tracie Lamb, Johnson County Community College
- District 2: John Seal, Fort Scott Community College
- District 3: Rachel Goossen, Washburn University History Department in Topeka
- District 4: Letha Johnson and Tracie Lamb, Dwight D Eisenhower Middle School
- District 5: David Bovee and Rhonda Baker, Fort Hays State University History Department
- District 6: Friends University and Erick Wichita-Sedgwick County Historical Museum

In 2010, a total of 614 students entered district competitions in Kansas. This was a decrease in participation of 167 students from 2009, but still a good showing given the transition the program was undergoing. District 5 was the only district to experience an increases in participation (see chart below).

Once again Exhibits was the dominant category with 227 students entered in the category. This was the last year that the website category was a combined category with individuals and groups competing against each other. Districts 1, 3, and 4 had strong participation in the Website category. See the chart below for the total number of students entered in each category by district.

We are grateful for the support of the District Coordinators who work year-round to promote, staff, organize, and fund the district contest in their regions. Several individuals helped to secure facilities for the state and district contests. Among them were:

- Terry Healy
- Jim Lieker
- Vincent Clark
- Robin Shrimpman
- Rachel Goossen

Their efforts contribute to the success and the unparalleled educational experiences that the History Day program provides for students and teachers alike.

Several organizations contributed to making the district contests possible. The Seaman High School History Day Club donated $1000 for district contest supplies. The following is a list of additional contributors to Kansas History Day at the district contest level:

District 1 (Bonner Springs):

Johnson County Community College History Department
Reiner Center, Johnson County Community College

District 2 (Fort Scott):

Fort Scott Community College
Fort Scott Community College History Department
Fort Scott Community College History Club
Fort Scott Community College President's Ambassadors
Fort Scott Community College Cheer and Dance team

District 3 (Topeka):

Alpha Beta Beta Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta
Shawnee County Historical Society
Washburn University History Department
Washburn University Memorial Student Union

District 4 (Manhattan):

Dwight D Eisenhower Middle School
Terry Healy

District 5 (Hays):

Fort Hays State University History Department
Fort Hays State University Memorial Union

District 6 (Wichita):

Friends University
Friends University History Department

Kansas History Day State Contest

Thanks to the KHDF partnership with the Washburn University History Department, the state contest was once again held at Washburn's Memorial Union in Topeka on April 17, 2010. This year's contest featured 209 students from 47 Kansas schools. The contest was made possible through an Affiliate Improvement Contract with NHD, which provided $5,000 from the NHD Federal Earmark. Additional support for the state contest was received from Washburn University's Memorial Student Union Scheduling, Facilities, and Catering. It was through the efforts of Rachel Goossen and Robin Shipman that the partnership with Washburn University was possible.

The following organizations sponsored scholarships and awards for students at this year's contest:

- ◆ Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area
- ◆ Kansas City Area Archivists
- ◆ Kansas Association of Historians
- ◆ Native Sons of Greater Kansas City

Once again, the high quality of entries made the job of determining which ones would advance to the National History Day Contest a difficult one. The lists of State Contest results and Special Awards and Prizes are in Appendix C.

Each year a teacher is selected as the Kansas History Day Teacher of the Year from nominations submitted by students, parents, fellow teachers, and administrators. Nominated for the award this year was: Lynette Wescott from Pittsburg Community Middle School. Lynette was described as a teacher who is always upbeat and uses creative teaching methods, such as Hip Hop/Rap, to make learning fun for her students. She gives generously of her free time to help those students who need the extra help or are working on special projects, such as History Day entries.

This year special recognition was given to two teachers for their dedication to History Day. Mary Courtney, Rolla Junior/Senior High, is History Day for students in Rolla. She gladly spends hours outside of the classroom helping her students find the resources they need for their History Day projects and arranges field trips to further their learning. Terry Healy, USD 383 Manhattan, really came through for her students this year by arranging a location for the Kansas History Day Foundation to hold the District 4 contest. What's even more remarkable about this is the fact that the only students (over 50) competing at the district contest were her students. This did not stop Terry from making sure that each student had a good experience at the contest.

National History Day Contest

Kansas had 47 students entered in the National History Day competition held at the University of Maryland, in College Park, Maryland, June 13-17, 2010. Thanks to a second Affiliate Improvement Contract with NHS, Letha Johnson was able to the national contest.

This year, Kansas had two entries win first place:

See Appendix D for a complete list of national finalists.

Plans for the Future

For the upcoming fiscal year, KHDF plans to continue to promote the use of History Day in the classroom through teacher workshops and presentations at professional conferences. Currently the Curriculum Coordinators are developing a beginner's teacher workshop that can be a stand-alone event or an in-service, for which we hope to secure Continuing Education Credits. Additionally, the State Coordinators will continue to work towards stabilizing the districts and search for new coordinators and locations for the Districts 1 and District 4 contests. It is hoped that these efforts will increase participation in the Kansas History Day program in these areas. In an effort to achieve the overall goals of KHDF, the State Coordinators will be attending the NHD funded State Coordinators Conference in Washington, D.C., in October 2010.
