History Day Recognition and Scholarships

All students participating in Kansas History Day receive statewide recognition and compete for medals, scholarships, and prizes. Medals are awarded to the top three entries in every category. The top two entries in each category receive an invitation to compete at National History Day in College Park, Maryland, on June 10-14, 2018.

The third-place entry in each category also receives information about the National History Day competition. In the event that either the gold or silver medalist(s) in a category is unable to enter the national contest, third-place entries are invited to compete at the National History Day contest. The awarding of third-place is very important. In recent years, third-place winners at Kansas History Day have competed at the national contest, and made it into the finals. The third-place entries also receive statewide recognition in newspapers and are able to highlight their achievement on college applications and resumes.

Special awards and prizes are also available to students whose entries address certain historical topics. These are open to any student with a topical entry, regardless of how that entry places in category competition. This year, topical prizes were available to students with entries in the areas of Kansas City-area history and the history of the Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area.
